INTRODUCTION

This guide is designed to share ideas and best practices for creating and maintaining a voting accessibility advisory committee (VAAC) at the city, county, or regional level.

While the Secretary of State is the chief elections officer for California, county elections officials are responsible for conducting elections. County officials are responsible for providing ballots and important election information to voters, ensuring polling places are accessible, and providing voting systems that allow for independent and private voting.

Many laws and standards are designed to ensure polling places are accessible to people with disabilities.

- The federal Voting Accessibility for the Elderly and Handicapped Act requires polling place access for senior voters and voters with disabilities.

- California Elections Code section 12280 states, “When designating polling places, the elections official shall undertake necessary measures in the locating of polling places to ensure that polling places meet the guidelines promulgated by the Secretary of State for accessibility by the physically handicapped.”

- The federal Help America Vote Act (HAVA) requires accessible, independent, and private voting for all eligible voters by ensuring 1) equal access to polling places that are accessible to all, and 2) voting systems that allow for independent and private voting.

To provide guidance in interpreting federal and state requirements for accessible polling places, the Secretary of State contracted with the California Department of Rehabilitation (DOR) to update the Polling Place Accessibility Guidelines and the Polling Place Accessibility Checklist at www.sos.ca.gov/elections/publications-and-resources/polling-place-accessibility-guidelines. The Secretary of State also coordinates with DOR to provide training on surveying polling places for accessibility.

In 2005, the Secretary of State established the state VAAC to advise, assist, and provide recommendations on how best to implement federal and state laws regarding access to the electoral process for voters with disabilities. Through the years, the state VAAC has provided input on many voting-related projects and issues, including the Polling Place.

The Secretary of State recommends that each county elections official establish a local VAAC to address voting accessibility needs. The county elections official in a county that is transitioning to the Voter’s Choice Act (VCA) is required to establish a VAAC. The VAAC will offer input/feedback to the Elections staff during the planning stages to ensure greater accessibility for voters with disabilities throughout the entire VCA implementation process. VAAC members will also participate with the County’s education and outreach efforts, particularly to the disability community.
A local VAAC can benefit your county in many ways, including providing a forum for the disability and senior communities in your county to voice their concerns and provide advice and opportunities for collaboration and outreach within your community. Counties that use the Vote Center model, rather than a traditional Polling Place, under the Voter’s Choice Act (VCA), is required to have a VAAC.

Feedback
A local VAAC provides a forum for those who represent the disability and senior communities to discuss issues they encounter in the voting process. VAAC members can recommend accessibility improvements to polling place websites, poll worker interactions (including any poll worker training needs), voter materials, and county election procedures. Local VAAC members can also provide feedback on polling locations, voting systems, and other accessible matters like voter outreach and Americans with Disabilities Act compliance. In VCA counties, VAAC members provide feedback on the implementation of potential vote center locations and services to ensure an accessible voting experience for people with disabilities.

Collaboration
A local VAAC opens lines of communication and fosters cooperation with community groups, ensuring elections officials can address issues directly and minimize misunderstandings. A local VAAC is also a great resource for recruiting poll workers. VAAC members can also participate in the making of new educational materials, including videos, regarding the accessibility features of their voting system.

Outreach
A local VAAC provides outreach to individuals and organizations that promote awareness of individuals with disabilities and seniors. Reaching out to these people and organizations can provide opportunities for the county to work with the community as a whole to understand the diverse array of challenges these communities face, as well as recruiting potential poll workers or VAAC members. Local VAAC members can work with County Elections staff to provide trainings on best practices when interacting with voters with disabilities to elections workers.
All counties using the Vote Center model are required to have a VAAC. Nevertheless, the Secretary of State recommends that each county elections official establish a local VAAC to help address voting accessibility needs. If a local VAAC within one county is not practical, counties may consider forming a regional VAAC to pool resources and ideas. Another option would be to establish regional VAACs encompassing the five areas of the state established by the California Association of Clerks and Election Officials (CACEO): Bay Area, Central Area, Motherlode Area, Northern Area, and Southern Area.

The first step to creating any committee is determining the number of members needed. The Secretary of State recommends for counties with:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Number of Registered Voters</th>
<th>Recommended Number of Members</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Less than 50,000 registered voters</td>
<td>Minimum of three members</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Between 50,000 and 500,000 registered voters</td>
<td>Minimum of five members</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Between 500,000 and 1,000,000 registered voters</td>
<td>Minimum of seven members</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More than 1,000,000 registered voters</td>
<td>Minimum of nine members</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

When appropriate, existing county boards or committees, which focus on accessibility matters and meet the representational guidelines above, could assume the functions of a local VAAC.

The San Francisco County Department of Elections found an effective way to recruit members for its VAAC by contacting local disability agencies to discuss the functions of their county’s VAAC. The county’s outreach efforts were so effective that VAAC membership increased from four members in 2016 to 20 members in 2017.

LA County’s Deputy Registrar and Internal staff attend VAAC meetings on a regular basis and assist with committee operations. When the County first recruited members, they contacted their local independent living centers and other disability service organizations throughout the County. The committee now includes members from Disability Rights California, local disability service providers, staff from each of the County’s independent living centers, a local member of the California Council for the Blind, the County’s Commission on Disabilities, local regional center staff, staff from local college disability student services offices, and other community disability advocates.
Soon after establishing a local VAAC, the county elections official should schedule the first meeting. The frequency of meetings depends on the needs of the county and availability of members. A VAAC may choose to meet on a monthly basis, however a VAAC may also choose to meet less frequently. For example, the state VAAC meets approximately six times per year. To bolster participation, it is important to establish alternatives to attending the meetings in person. Examples of an alternative method for participation are holding the meeting via a conference call or web conference.

Create an Agenda. An agenda is essential to every VAAC meeting. The agenda helps to ensure a meeting stays on topic and can cover an array of subject matters. Distribute the agenda prior to the meeting day.

Establish a chairperson or co-chairs. At the first local VAAC meeting, nominate a chairperson or co-chairs who will lead the meetings. Establish operating procedures such as how often the VAAC should meet, a reliable and accessible meeting location, and a standard meeting time and length.

Create a VAAC mission statement. The state’s VAAC mission statement is to “advise, assist, and provide recommendations to the Secretary of State’s Office regarding the implementation of federal and state laws relating to access to the electoral process by voters with disabilities, so that all persons can vote independently and privately.”

Establish goals. VAAC goals may include:

- Assisting county elections officials in surveying polling places for compliance with state and federal accessibility guidelines. Evaluating an inaccessible polling place or voting area to determine if – with the use of temporary modifying equipment or measures – it can be modified to permit use by senior voters and voters with disabilities.
- In VCA counties, the VAAC will advise and provide feedback to the County Elections staff with the implementation of Vote Center locations and services to voters with disabilities.
- Assisting and advising county elections officials in training poll workers to assist senior voters and voters with disabilities.
- Assisting in the recruitment of poll workers or precinct officials who are seniors or have a disability.
- Assisting county elections officials to enhance website accessibility, including establishing a county website accessibility statement.

County elections officials may also wish to create a polling place accessibility plan with the help of their local VAAC. Polling place accessibility plans serve as a guide to establishing polling places in the county that meet accessibility requirements. Santa Cruz county, for example, received valuable input after asking its local VAAC to review a draft polling place plan and included the VAAC mission statement in the final plan, which is available on the CACEO’s website at www.caceo58.org.

Once a local VAAC is established, maintaining active membership may be one of the most challenging issues. It is important for the county elections staff to communicate to VAAC members how their continued participation benefits the election process. Options for sustaining an active VAAC membership include:

- Implementing attendance requirements, such as requiring members to attend a specified percentage of meetings each year.
- Requesting regular feedback from members, perhaps including a confidential annual satisfaction survey.
- Continuing advertisement for new membership after the VAAC has been formed in order to find new replacements quickly.
- Diversifying the agenda topics so people of different backgrounds and expertise remain interested. While some VAAC members may be especially interested in voting systems, others may be more focused on polling place accessibility or voter outreach. Encouraging diversity in membership will also contribute to diverse agenda topics. For example, people who use wheelchairs may have different voting experiences than people who can walk but cannot see ballots and polling place signs. Prospective members may be staff or volunteers of local disability organizations. Such organizations may include Independent Living Centers (ILC), Aging and Disabled Resource Connection (ADRC), Family Empowerment Centers, or other local boards or organizations.
- Engaging VAAC members in community outreach. Encourage VAAC members to promote the opportunities for access they helped create. This will allow the VAAC to have a sense of ownership and increase their desire to be a positive part of creating solutions for voter accessibility in your county.

Forming a VAAC in your county or region may help strengthen your county’s attention to voting accessibility matters along with fostering a more cooperative relationship with the local disability community.

The Secretary of State encourages each county elections official to connect with officials in other counties and states to share best practices on how to form and sustain an active VAAC.
